

Lifting the Limitations

Much of the cost and effort involved in classical data migrations are generated by migration content development, as follows:

-

